

Most of the waves present on the ocean's surface are wind-generated waves.

Tsunamis originate from earthquakes, volcanic explosions, or submarine landslides.

Water waves do not move water, they move energy!